Cataract Surgery now accomplished although I still need my new glasses. I always change them every two years even if there are no changes to the lenses. Loved glass lens but the drawback of injury and scratching of the lenses has shown that plastic is the way of the future and has been for more than a generation although I was perhaps the last holdout on the planet still wearing glass lenses until it took longer to get the glass lenses than the plastic! No regrets for sure but they do need to be updated every two years as plastic (in my humble opinion does lose some of its crispness over time). But recovery time from the cataract surgery is estimated at 4 to 6 weeks after the last surgery to new glasses and I decided to take the entire six weeks estimated before going to see the optometrist to be fitted with new glasses. My present distance glasses are my “close-up” work glasses but are too strong so I can not work for long periods with them. The reading glasses are not usable by me now as they collect dust in the huge bag of glasses that I must remember to take to the Optometrist’s store as they recycle them. Strabismus appears to be gone and I have depth of vision which I never had before. It is intriguing to look at the world and see the depth in everything; wondrous actually although my brain had corrected for this inability to actually see it by estimating which greatly expanded my brain capacity as I memorized everywhere that I went. However, my brain tended to see everything somewhat further away

(my back yard has definitely shrunk!) and when I took my driver's test nearly sixty years ago now the wonderful tester willing to accompany me in a car for that test (not having depth of vision and not being 20/20 was definitely a drawback with the initial testing) he warned me that I was not seeing the actual distance between myself and cars when passing. It was good he did as I was very cautious passing all my life. The person who taught me to drive (he ran a driving school and we used his car with the extra brake for all of my lessons and the actual test which must have been reassuring to the examiner!) I will always remember. When I first got behind the wheel of his car I had my foot firmly on the brake and after a couple of minutes he said "we are not going anywhere unless you put your foot on the accelerator and I did and away we went and the rest is history now" but I will always be grateful for his help as I took the full course of eleven lessons and then the 12th was the actual test. Worth every penny for sure!

I stopped working on the book just before the first cataract surgery date which was the 27th of May and the second cataract surgery date was the 14th of June. Between those two dates I did absolutely nothing because my weaker eye was operated on first and surprise for me was that everything looking only out of my stronger eye was actually yellowed looking (effect of the cataract I guess) and suddenly as the eye cleared after a couple of days the bright white was overwhelming and took me a few days to adjust to. Then of course the second operation was on the eye that had done most of my seeing all of my life and my weaker eye by then completely healed needed a lot of time to adjust to being the eye that I was using. Fortunately I had the help of my daughter 100% of this time and managed without incident.

By the near end of May I had completed the general chapters of the book in terms of initial writing and footnoting letting me introduce my own opinion on the descent of the Blake family of Andover which clearly matches the records which I have added into this book. The Blake family of Andover is not descendant of the Blake family of Calne in the male line. It may well be descendant of the Richard le Blake family named as the head of the Calne Blake family and I offer the hypothesis and proof for suggesting that Richard le Blak was from Rouen, Normandy coming to England in 1274 or shortly thereafter and is located initially in southern Hampshire but moving to Berkshire where he is found on the Pipe Rolls 1301 at Waltham. He does have a daughter and I do postulate that the individual living at Andover likely descendant of the original hunter-gatherers in the British Isles married a daughter of Richard le Blake around 1300 and took her surname as the English did not have surnames when the Normans invaded England in 1066. But by the 1200s, 1300s many in Britain had taken a surname. The proof for that is somewhat hazier and I need to flesh it out somewhat but I am beginning the abstraction of BMBs from the records (actually done but will review each one and footnote it) when I return to working on the book once again in September.

I do plan on keeping the Blake yDNA project up to date on this book over the next two years. We may see a slightly shorter newsletter though and of course I welcome any Blake family history if you wish to submit an article on your line.

A number of new members to the study and welcome to you. A few of the groups have independent researchers who manage them and likely you will have heard from them if you are matching them. I do not generally write to anyone as I am likely unable to aid you unless you are in one of their groups or in the group from which my Blake line descends. To me this is a collection period during which vast amounts of data is going to get organized and the methodology continues to develop as to just how we will organize this data. FT DNA does a great job with their current (and it is fairly new) y-DNA tree assigning haplogroups way into the past and up to the present to match the results that have been obtained by testing the samples. I can aid very little to that other than try and organize the kits of people in this project into lines that suit the results of their data. This may not happen quickly as time needs to pass with each result whilst I look at the available data (given my current situation (recovery from cataract surgery) and that is a slow process. I will run comparisons of these results once my eyes are ready to take on this study and for the moment two members remains in Ungrouped. I do hope to remedy that by the next newsletter.

3. Andover, Hampshire, England, Parish Registers - Baptisms

Andover, Hampshire, England has often been said to be the “home of the Blakes” when I have been writing to people in Hampshire through the years. I would say that Calne, Wiltshire perhaps has a stronger hold on that particular title although there are a number of other areas in England where the Blake family has been for centuries. When I decided to transcribe the Parish Registers of Andover I was surprised to find that yes there are a number of Blake entries but there are far more Blake entries in Parish Registers in other parts of England as mentioned. In this issue, I will publish the baptisms for Blake in the Parish Registers. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for baptisms begin in 1588 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I hope to complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.

Baptismal Registers commenced in 1588 and I will publish these transcriptions for Andover.

4. Andover, Hampshire, England Parish Registers - marriages

I will publish the marriages for Blake in the Parish Registers of St Marys Andover. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for marriages begin in 1587 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I hope to complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.

Marriage Registers commenced in 1587

This completes the marriages that I have transcribed. Hopefully in the future I will complete this task up to the 1900s but for the moment I will move on to the Burials for the next newsletter.

Any submissions, queries for the journal please submit to Elizabeth (Blake) Kipp for the 1st October 2024 issue by the middle of September 2024. Thank you.
