1. Blake Family of Andover, Hampshire, England

As it turned out the Companion Charting Book for the Siderfin Family of West Somerset was released on the 30th of December 2024. I did find that the book at 170 pages was longer than I had thought but once started it just seemed obvious that I should do a complete job (the Siderfin family was on my mother's side coming down from her father, then his father's mother was the daughter of Elizabeth (Siderfin) Rew). I can now return to the History of the Blake Family of Andover, Hampshire, England a book which I started nearly a year ago now but set aside for my cataract surgery. It has been an amazing seven months as I recovered from the cataract surgery in each eye done 17 days apart and discovered a new world out there. I was born with strabismus and astigmatism but now appear to have just slight astigmatism perhaps however not sufficient to have to wear glasses normally. However, for up close work (and reading the speedometer on the car) I do wear glasses. Depth of vision is definitely not over rated; it is a marvelous human ability and one should appreciate it really. Most people have it I suspect; there is just a small group of people who, from birth, had their brain decide it did not like the confusing images it was receiving so shut off the one eye basically. I could see a little through it but for the most part I do not think it did any work all those 79 years. The only description I have of my reaction to anything visual in my infancy is my mother mentioning that my father had a bathrobe of many colours and it made me cry so he stopped wearing it! But I did not walk free of furniture/support until I received my first pair of glasses at the age of eighteen months. I immediately stood up and walked. Since I can remember some incidences involving my eyes, I did find that the world was not a steady place without glasses for who knows what reason. Somehow I could never get inspired to do research into that phenomenon since wearing my glasses appeared to keep it at bay. But it has disappeared and the world is steady-state like it is for most people probably. But I digress.

This is actually inherited from my father but I have not noted that the descendants particularly have inherited the strabismus. In a family of seven I appear to be the one that had the most severe case (one other brother also wore glasses but they were weaker lenses). My daughters did not inherit the defect from me. So the odds I suspect are low but I believe it came down the actual Blake line because in the picture of Edward Blake (my great grandfather you can see that he has a crossed eye (common name for strabismus) interesting really). My cousin Ivan Kent had a large framed copy of the picture of Edward Blake and Maria Jane (Knight) Blake (30 inches by 20 inches) taken in 1898 (likely around the time of the funeral of their son Edward Sidney Blake who was buried 27 Nov 1898 at Goodworth Clatford). I did wonder if he had been in the Boer War but did not find him there so no idea on cause of death as I did not purchase his death registration. He had not married and was just 21 years of age (christened 16 Nov 1877 at Upper Clatford). Edward and Maria buried three children when the children were fairly young, two daughters died in childbirth, and Edward whilst they were still living. At the time of the death of Edward (great grandfather) in 1916 there were still six of his children living – Louisa Mary (Blake) Hall, John Blake, Samuel George Blake (my grandfather living in London, Ontario, Canada), Henry Blake (living in Toronto, Ontario, Canada), Sarah Ann (Blake) (Mattocks) Smallbones, and William Thomas Blake (my cousin Ivan Kent's grandfather).

I had predicted I would return to the book around the end of September but it will be now as I opted to take lots of time for recovery. Amazing stuff, health care for sure.

I do plan on keeping the Blake yDNA project up to date on this book over the next two years. We may see a slightly shorter newsletter though and of course I welcome any Blake family history if you wish to submit an article on your line.

There are no new members – I think that is the first time since I started the newsletter. A few of the groups have independent researchers who manage them and likely you will have heard from them if you are matching them. I do not generally write to anyone as I am likely unable to aid you unless you are in one of their groups or in the group from which my Blake line descends. To me this is a collection period during which vast amounts of data are going to get organized and the methodology continues to develop as to just how we will organize this data. FT DNA does a great job with their current (and it is fairly new) y-DNA tree assigning haplogroups way into the past and up to the present to match the results that have been obtained by testing the samples. I can aid very little to that other than try and organize the kits of people in this project into lines that suit the results of their data. This may not happen quickly as time needs to pass with each result whilst I look at the available data. All individuals are now assigned. I always welcome any comments from people on the assigning to a particular group. R-M269 is a particularly large group within the study and it has been broken down by an earlier researcher. I have somewhat retained the structure that Barrie Blake had because he often communicated with individuals within the group. But I do welcome any new information that might help to better refine some of these groups.

3. Andover, Hampshire, England, Parish Registers - Baptisms

Andover, Hampshire, England has often been said to be the “home of the Blakes” when I have been writing to people in Hampshire through the years. I would say that Calne, Wiltshire perhaps has a stronger hold on that particular title (the Blake family at Andover acquired the surname Blake sometime in the late 1200s/early 1300s and I am still determining that) although there are a number of other areas in England where the Blake family has also been for centuries. When I decided to transcribe the Parish Registers of Andover I was surprised to find that yes there are a number of Blake entries but there are far more Blake entries in Parish Registers in other parts of England as mentioned. In this issue, I will publish the baptisms for Blake and others in the Parish Registers. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. The registers for baptisms begin in 1588 and have provided me with a lot of details on the Blake family in Andover in the late 1500s and into the 1600s/1700s. Eventually I may complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s (but the online database at Find My Past is excellent as it provides the scans which you can enlarge!).

Baptismal Registers commenced in 1588 and I will publish these transcriptions for Andover.

4. Andover, Hampshire, England Parish Registers burials

I will publish the burials for Blake and others in the Parish Registers of St Marys Andover. These records are taken from fiche which have scans of the original parish registers. Eventually perhaps I will complete my project of transcribing these Parish Registers for St Marys Andover beyond the early to mid 1700s.
